AMEC 2016 Prospector Award

The Company is very pleased to advise that recognition of the leaders of the Reward project exploration effort, Ian Mulholland (Rox Managing Director), Ian Sandl (Teck Australia General Manager – Asia-Pacific), and Mike Taylor (Teck Australia Exploration Manager), was made last week at the annual AMEC Awards Dinner in Perth.

They were winners of the AMEC 2016 Prospector Award, a prestigious honour, won in previous years for discoveries such as Gruyere, Andy Well, Nova, Tropicana, Carrapateena and DeGrussa.

The trio were recognised for their efforts in leading the exploration teams over the last 8 years that led to the discovery of the Teena Zinc-Lead deposit in 2013 and the recent announcement of an Inferred Mineral Resource (ASX:RXL 1 June 2016).

The story of discovery was an intriguing one, involving persistence, entrepreneurial skill, geological excellence, and investigative vigour.

In receiving the award Rox Managing Director, Ian Mulholland, thanked all of the people who had contributed to the success of the project and who had contributed in one way or another, singling out the efforts of Teck Australia who had been a terrific partner in the project. Mike Taylor, Teck Australia Exploration Manager said it was a great example of a major and junior company working together to achieve exploration success.
